- Active rewards with lock-up periods ranging from 2 to 12 months

Expansion and Listings

pending

- Listings on decentralized exchanges (DEX)
- Creation of the liquidity fund
- Development of proprietary platforms using QPT as a payment method
- First beta version of the play-to-earn game ecosystem

End of Staking Period

- A significant price correction due to a large number of holders liquidating their investments

- Start of Stake 2.0
- Administrative transition to the community
- Creation of the governance project
- Beginning of power decentralization
- Corporate event
- Leadership transition
- Establishment of the new organizational framework led by the community

At this point I need to call your attention, because right now when you see the coin's price plummeting due to the number of people liquidating their options, this was predicted from the beginning and at this exact moment it's time to celebrate, not to be sad, for two reasons: many who were once poor and believed in the project are now getting closer to prosperity, as they invested little and are withdrawing two, three, four, maybe ten times more profit. With this, Stake 1.0 comes to an end, it's your time to buy new coins, now on sale, when everyone is selling and the value is dropping, because at this time the NFT system and the community GAME will be implemented, which we'll give more details about how it will be in the future soon.

But so you know, new forms of remuneration will be created and a new market will be established within our ecosystem. The more coins you have in stake, the greater your chances of obtaining the best rewards. Therefore, when you see the crowd withdrawing their profits, take the opportunity to become the newest owner of the Quépti project and help the community decentralize power and wealth.
